

BTAA Open Access Publishing Agreement with Wiley

---

The Big Ten Academic Alliance (BTAA) libraries have reached an agreement with the publisher, Wiley, for a one-year journal portfolio contract extension with an Open Access publishing option for authors. This agreement is in effect February 1-December 31, 2022 and is a pilot in collective action toward the BIG Collection.

What does this mean for Feinberg authors?

- As affiliates of Northwestern, a participating BTAA institution, authors may choose to publish an article as Open Access in a hybrid Wiley journal. Once an article has been accepted in a Wiley hybrid journal, the corresponding author may opt to make it OA. The article then becomes OA at no cost to the author during the pilot timeframe, up to a capped number of OA article credits per institution.
- Once a participating institution has fully used its OA article credits, authors automatically are eligible for a 10% discount on Article Processing Charges (APCs) in any Wiley hybrid journal.

The BTAA site contains information about the Wiley agreement. To search for Wiley journals in which to publish, consider: Wiley Journal Finder (Beta).

For additional information about OA publishing options, also writing and publishing resources, refer to the GalterGuides: Open Access Publishing and Publishing Your Work, or consult with a Galter liaison librarian.

---

Printed: Sunday, March 13, 2022 6:33 PM

Source: <https://galter.northwestern.edu/News/btaa-open-access-publishing-agreement-with-wiley.pdf>