<td>Liaison Librarians</td>
<td>Did you know we have liaison librarians assigned to all Feinberg departments, centers, and programs? Find out who to contact for personal librarian support.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Literature Searches and Systematic Review Support</td>
<td>The library offers several search assistance models, depending on your needs. Searches consultations: If you’re about to embark on a research project and would like tips on which databases you should use or how best to phrase your search terminology, contact us to arrange a search consultation or reach out to your liaison librarian. Systematic review support: Galter librarians have extensive experience collaborating with Feinberg research teams on systematic and scoping reviews. We have been named as co-authors on Feinberg systematic reviews, scoping reviews, meta-analyses, and guidelines. For more information, see our Systematic Review Guide or contact Linda O’Dwyer.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Library Workshops and Training By Request</td>
<td>The Galter Library offers monthly classes in PubMed, EndNote, and more. See our current class schedule</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Curriculum Support</td>
<td>Librarians can work with faculty to integrate information management skills into your course including: hands-on sessions; classroom demonstrations; training in library resources such as literature databases and educational software; EBM search skills training; and AoSC support. Contact Molly Beestrum, Education and Curriculum Coordinator, to get started.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Residents and Clinical Departments</td>
<td>Each department or program is assigned a liaison librarian who can help with: EBM search skills training; education and demonstrations at departmental meetings; systematic review and publication support; and resource recommendations. We also have clinical informationists, librarians with specialized training who can round with clinical teams. Contact your department’s liaison librarian for more information.</td>
